

MEET THE TEAM

Jay Kooner

Lead Asbestos Analyst & Surveyor
South East Region

How did you begin your career with Lucion Services?

My career with Lucion began with a bit of luck! My previous employer had been taken over by one of our competitors and I had received two job offers, one from the competitor, and one from the director of the previous company I had worked for. I needed to develop my skill set and and broaden my knowledge in the asbestos industry so I chose the market leader, Lucion!

How was it integrating into a new company?

As a new starter to any business, a lot of personal development is from the willingness to learn. I would always call and ask one of my more experienced colleagues at the time if I had any questions or needed advice and they were always only too happy to help.

Do you have any career highlights to date?

Finding Asbestos in unusual places and identifying unknown asbestos on sites that have been previously surveyed by various third-party. Gaining various levels of authorisations as a surveyor have also been highlights; obtaining my competent person accreditation for National Grid and passing my P403 & P404 BoHs qualifications. Just being at a point in my career where I have a good understanding, knowledge and experience of the management and regulations relating to asbestos including UKAS procedures and best practices.

What do you enjoy most about your role as lead surveyor/analyst?

Being able to advise clients on the ongoing process of managing asbestos and remediation. Working at Lucion Services also gives me the opportunity to working in and with some of the UK's most distinguished buildings and clients. I also really enjoy learning and broadening my knowledge and skill set on a daily basis. No two days are the same at Lucion!

What would you say to anyone thinking about embarking upon a career with Lucion Services?

If you are determined to be the best that you can be in your chosen discipline in the asbestos industry, then you'd be joining the perfect company!